MANAGEMENT COMMENT

The U.S. 2-year sovereign rate rebounded over the month at +0.29%. The U.S. Federal Reserve will soon begin its monetary tightening, which caused rates widening. The portfolio benefited from the hedging position via futures of the rising rate risk. Tapering has already begun on certain asset classes whose purchase programs were initiated during the Covid pandemic crisis. In terms of credit, the Chinese issuer Evergrande, which is close to bankruptcy, has fuelled volatility in the markets, particularly in the real estate sector. The Chinese Central Bank is working to stabilize the market in the face of fears that a systemic issuer such as Evergrande could fail. The subject has been discussed at the highest level of the Chinese authorities and agreements reached with some creditors have brought a lull. The portfolio is currently evolving with a low credit duration after the strong retracement of premiums and a lower interest rate duration in anticipation of the change in monetary policy.
