In May the fund’s benchmark gained +0.22% while the fund posted a performance of +0.26% for the month for the USD class. The US 10-year yield ended the month at 4.40%, rising more than 20bp versus end of april.

During the month of May, the corporate bond market saw credit spreads tighten back to levels seen before the widening and volatility triggered by the Trump administration’s announcements on “Liberation Day.”

Market attention was focused on the alternating phases of easing tensions characterized by temporary delays and lower tariff levels and renewed rounds of negotiations involving the U.S. administration and various countries around the world.

In this context, the asset class returned to showing greater stability and resilience compared to others, supported by strong investor interest, as evidenced by inflows into dedicated funds and active participation in the primary market. The latter saw record volumes in the investment grade segment, just under €100 billion higher than in the same month of 2024 and above the average of the past three years.

Total return performance was positive in the U.S. despite the rise in government interest rates. The portfolio is well diversified (around 155 issues and 135 issuer) with an overweight sector exposure to financials (37%) versus the benchmark, with a preference for defensive sectors in the non financial space. Off benchmark exposure to sub-investment grade securities is low, at around 3%, as is exposure to off benchmark AT1 securities at 3.3%. At the end of the month, the fund's average yield (around 4.6%) was slightly conservative than that of its benchmark index (4.85%) for an average rating of A-.

ESG risk: Although the portfolio manager intends to implement the ESG investment process as described in the Mediobanca Group sustainability policy (<https://www.mediobanca.com/en/sustainability/esg-and-the-focus-on-consumers/esg-in-our-group.html>) and on the CMB Monaco website (<https://www.cmb.mc/sites/default/files/2022-05/CMG%20MONACO%20ESG%20POLICY.pdf>), the success of the ESG strategy largely depends on third-party data providers as well as their methodologies and IT systems. These data are not systematically tested or verified by the manager. Consequently, the manager may invest in or divest from a security based on information provided by a third party that may later prove to be inconsistent with the fund's criteria. This could occur when the provider considers additional information that causes the investment to no longer meet the investment criteria. Moreover, multiple providers may be used; however, different providers may present differences, discrepancies, or inconsistencies regarding information related to certain companies. Therefore, in some cases, an internal assessment is conducted to evaluate the company's involvement in a certain activity or controversy. In these cases, the manager does not guarantee that the internal evaluations meet investors' expectations regarding investment or divestment according to the ESG investment process.
